

A press release proclaimed: "Business people, ministers and office-workers, them too, are throwing themselves into the outside world: an international community ruled by a language called English.

"Today's Phnom Penh is covered with government as well as private English instructing schools," it said.

Filip and Sok Khieng found the 14 room building, which formerly housed the Vietnam Veterans Association, and say their school is recognized by the Ministry of Education.

[BACK]

Police Blotter: 18 August 2008

An 18 -year-old virgin has been rescued from a room in Sok Leap guesthouse in Tbong Khmum district, Kampong Cham at ...

Police Blotter: 15 August 2008

Police Blotter: 14 August 2008

Letters

Win-win possible at Preah Vihear
It is most unfortunate that Thailand is making deeper incursions into Cambodian (Khmer) territory following the UNESCO World Heritage Site designation of ...

Our Blogs

The KR Tribunal Report

Latest Blogs

When all else fails, blame the Vietnamese
While there are haunting shots of a nearly deserted Phnom Penh, as well as moving testimonies from newly liberated Khmer Rouge survivors, I found the ...
Read more

Siem Reap  29°
Sihanoukville  2:
C

The Post News Sections

National News
Business
Post Life
Siem Reap Insider

Special Supplements

Banking and Finance 2008
E & E 2008
Energy 2008
IT and Telecom 2008
Real Estate 2008
Tourism 2008

Most Popular

When all else fails, blame the Vietnamese
S21: An extravagant waste
Troops leave temple as top diplomats to meet

About Us | Contact Us | Privacy policy | Advertising | Subscriptions | Sitemap